Alberta Snapshot

Stantec is an engineering design and delivery firm headquartered in Edmonton, Alberta, which maintains more than 400 offices worldwide, including three in Kansas. Stantec specializes in 89 different markets, from residential and retail to water and oil and gas. The company's main objective is to balance innovation, creativity, and community to advance quality of life in locations across the globe.

Stantec's Wichita office was established in 2004 and aims to reflect the community and its history. A recent example is the groundwater treatment facility Stantec designed to look like a barn in order to blend in with the surrounding countryside.

Stantec's Midwest landscape architecture studio is nestled in the vibrant downtown of Overland Park. The company's second office in Overland Park is focused on water resources, floodplain mapping, hydraulic modeling, and geographic information systems.
